VANCOUVER WOMEN'S FORUM ON PEACE AND SECURITY ON THE KOREAN PENINSULA: "FROM CRISIS TO OPPORTUNITY"

On January 16, 2018, as several Foreign Ministers from around the world will gather in Vancouver to discuss security and stability on the Korean Peninsula, an international delegation of sixteen women peacemakers will convene to ensure that peace women's perspectives are included in official discussions and that the only option on the table to resolve the Korean crisis will be a diplomatic one.

Given the recent breakthrough in inter-Korean dialogue, this is a tremendous moment of opportunity particularly in light of the Foreign Ministers' Meeting in Canada, which has recently adopted a Women's Peace and Security National Action Plan as central to its Feminist Foreign Policy. In Vancouver, the delegation of women peacemakers will work to call upon the Foreign Ministers to pursue a comprehensive and lasting resolution to the longstanding conflict.

In a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, these women peacemakers will be in Vancouver to share their tremendous knowledge, wisdom and on-the-ground perspectives as they work towards achieving peace, reconciliation and genuine security on the Korean Peninsula. With expertise on militarism, nuclear disarmament, sanctions, and the human, social, and ecological costs of the unresolved 65-year Korean War, the speakers will provide a rich and comprehensive analysis that is vital to understand for taking steps that can ensure a lasting peace on the Korean Peninsula.

While the Foreign Ministers represent the twenty nations of the UN Command in Korea that fought and provided humanitarian assistance in the Korean War during the 1950-1953 period, the women peacemakers represent a range of contemporary civil-society organizations and institutions in South Korea, Japan, Guam, Sweden, United States and Canada.

Come listen to three fast-moving roundtable discussions that will give an in-depth perspective on the past and current situation in Korea. Roundtable topics include the historic roots and geopolitical context that underlies the military tensions surrounding the Korean Peninsula, as well as the actions now underway to ensure that nuclear war is averted and to work toward the achievement of a permanent peace agreement in Korea.
